Petersburg, October 21. O.S.

THE River of Neva is so froze up by a strong Wind at N.E. which has blown for these two Days, that all the Navigation from hence to Cronstadt, is stopp'd on a sudden. A Copy is publish'd here of a Letter from Kouli Kan to the Czarina, importing, that Hostilities being commence'd against the Ottoman Porte, he should draw up his Sword till he had carried his Point, till the Russian Monarchy was also a Gainer by Desl. Nov. 1. O.S. They write from Constantinople, that the Grand Vizier has made his publick entry with very great Pomp, and that the march for the Advantages pretended to be gain'd him over the Christian Arms, lasted a whole week, during which, all the Streets were hung with Colours, and that instead of Horses or other Animals, Christian Slaves were employ'd to draw the Arrows and other Booty taken at Orsova, and on board Russian Ships.

Desl. Nov. 1. O.S. According to the last Letter from Warsaw, the Dyer of the Kingdom will break up se infecta (if it be not already separated) before the King will never agree to the Articles dictated by the Poles; and Fourscore Post-Horses keep a Readiness for his Majesty's Journey to Warsaw, their Majesties are expected here before Christmas.

Naples, Oct. 24. O.S. The King Don Carlos has issued a new Order of Knights, with the Title of Charles; of which his Majesty is to be Grand Master, as well as that of St. Januarius, and the Bishop of Thebesalonica, is Chancellor. This is a Military Order, much of the same kind with that of Lewis in France.

Naples, Oct. 28. O.S. They write from Toulon, that the Hostages who are there on the Part of the French Malecontents, have sign'd a Declaration, saying, 'That they are sorry to hear how some of their Countrymen have behaved lately in favour of Baron Neuhoff; that they do for themselves, and the rest of their Nation, disapprove and disclaim such Proceedings, as pernicious and iniquitous, opposite to the Welfare of their Country, and contrary to the Respect and Gratitude which are due to the most Christian King, for the glorious Proofs he gave them of his Goodness in his Endeavours to put an End to their Misfortunes; that consequently both they and their Countrymen, who are well-informed, will have no Correspondence nor Dealings with the Baron or his Adherents; but, on the contrary, will look upon them as Disturbers of the publick Peace of their Country, and responsible for the Misfortunes that may be the Consequence of the Discord among the Inhabitants, &c.' The French add, that two Frigates, of 40 Guns each, are fitting out at Toulon, to convoy the Transports that are to carry over four Battalions more for reinforcing the French Troops in the Isle of Corsica.

Lugano, Oct. 28. O.S. We are assured that the heads of the Corsican Malecontents beyond the mountains, have lately received a Letter from Baron Neuhoff, in which he declares to them, 'That as he left their Coasts in compliance with the Nature and Circumstances of Affairs, he was so far from abandoning the Designs he has form'd for the Prosperity of the Corsicans, that the Obstacles he meets with, will only make him the more zealous to the Means of surmounting them: That their Fidelity and Constancy will be the most proper Basis for this End, in which he therefore exhorts them to be perfect; that they must not let their Courage be cast down by unforeseen Accidents, which are inseparable from all great Enterprizes, and that consequently they ought not to be too much concerned for the Loss of some of those Ships on which he sent them the promised Succours; that he is able to send them still greater; and that tho' he is again separated from them, yet he will not fail to give them frequent Marks of his Affection, &c. We are assured this Letter was written from Naples. As the Testimonies of Affection and Zeal which the Ultramontane Malecontents gave to the Baron de Neuhoff on his Return, were most of all encouraged by the Assistance which he brought them, his Letter has given them very great Pleasure, because it encourages them to hope for another Supply.

To the ANTI-PATRIOTS.

WHY this Confed'reate Roar, this Spite,
Against one worthy Sage?
Why growl, shew Teeth? Ye cannot bite,
Tho' Madness join your Rage.

The Canine Tribe, your Emblem proves,
They bark at Cynthia's Beams;
While she in solemn Silence moves,
Regardless who blasphemers.

The Serpent thus, the File beset,
With horrid Hissing gnaws;
Emits his Poyson in the Fret,
And breaks his venom'd Jaws.

Fix'd like a Rock, the Hero stands,
And dares a foaming Sea;
His Charge is to preserve these Lands,
From Force, and Treachery.

Full well, he does, discharge the Trust!
Hail! Britain, happy Isle!
While thou art govern'd by the Just,
Thy Guardian Gods will smile.

How frail are those! who take a Taint,
From your infectious Lines;
Vain all your Labour, vain your Paint,
Too obvious your Designs.

You rail, you lampoon, all in Place,
Exhaust your Fund of Wit;
In hopes to give the Patriots Chace,
Then in their Stations sit.

Forbear! their Conduct to oppose,
The Nation is too wise;
They know their Friends, and see their Foes,
Tho' Clouds of Faction rise.

Vain Hopes! false Patriots sole Reward!
In these Augustan Days;
You are the Fools (Oh! Fate most hard)
The Fury Envy flays.
